Dear Mr. Sweet:

It was good to meet with you recently and to discuss your new assignment and the challenges that lie ahead. While I certainly want to welcome you back to the States, I am duty bound to remind you that some things have not changed.

Unfortunately, America is still America, and in desperate need of a self discovery and inclusion. My guiding principle is to support those corporations who are willing to fully embrace our ever emerging diversity. As I stated to you previously, Schlumberger has a rare and unique opportunity in partnership with Dallas County, to create a public sector flagship that is heretofore unmatched.

I feel confident that we share a similar vision, in that performance can never be eclipsed by profession. Excellence is both possible and attainable.

Sincerely,

John Wiley Price
